Getting Involved

By now our students have survived mid-term exams and taken those first (or last) steps toward their bright futures. Academic success is important, but equally important for our students is their social and emotional growth. That is why my theme for November is "Getting Involved". One way for students to get involved at Texas A&M is through involvement in one of many on campus student-sponsored organizations.

At our November 13 meeting, we will learn about the Memorial Student Center. To quote the website, "The Memorial Student Center (MSC) provides students with academic, entertainment, social, arts, political and cultural awareness programs and experiential learning opportunities. The MSC's student-driven committees, supported by full-time staff, foster leadership development for A&M students with programs that enhance both the University and Bryan/College Station communities."

With a student population of 66,000 and growing, Texas A&M's main campus is literally a small city. Of course, it would be easy for a student to feel overwhelmed and lost. Getting involved in one of the many MSC student organizations is a great way to connect with students and to make life-long friends.

In addition to the MSC program presentation at our November meeting, Kendra Scott – First Colony will be hosting a boutique jewelry shopping opportunity. Aggie Moms can save 10% on all Kendra Scott jewelry and an additional 10% of sales will be donated the scholarship fund. We will start our social time at 6:30 p.m. this month to give Aggie Moms additional time to shop and visit. I am sure there is someone on your Christmas list that would appreciate some Aggie bling!

Aggie Moms have been getting involved in the Ft. Bend Aggie Moms Club. Our October social at the Braman winery was a huge success! We will have a wreath making social on November 9, where we can make some Aggie-themed holiday décor. The newsletter has more information about that opportunity.

I challenge you to get involved with the Ft. Bend Aggie Moms! Besides making life-long friends, we are supporting our students in their journey at Texas A&M.

Dear Aggie Mom

Do you have any tips on keeping in touch with my student during the semester?

My best advice is to buy about a dozen greeting cards during the summer or throughout the year. Have them on hand to mail to your student "just because". I sometimes will add a gift card, but more often than not it's just the card with a little note to let them know I am thinking about them. I address and stamp them all at once in case grandma or dad want to send one, so all they have to do is sign it and drop it in the mail.

Sincerely,
Aggie Mom
Stephaney Davis
